

2019 Missouri State Fair

Mark Wolfe
Director

The Missouri State Fair continues to strive to live up to its core values which include fostering pride in our great state, cultivating future leaders in agriculture and preserving the positive traditions of the Fair, among others. Agriculture is the foundation of the State and the State Fair. It's the cornerstone of a strong Missouri economy, and it is the state's number one industry.

As a State Fair exhibitor, you, too, are taking steps to live up to those core values by participating in friendly and respectful competitions and building family memories and traditions for future generations. Let me be the first to say THANK YOU to all returning exhibitors and WELCOME to the newcomers. This Premium Guide will serve as your guidebook on entering the outstanding line-up of opportunities showcasing the best of the best in agriculture, agribusiness, domestic and fine arts, and more.

We consider our exhibitors as part of our Fair family and hope you consider the State Fair as your home away from home each August. The 2019 State Fair theme is once again "Come Home" and whether you have been to the Fair just a few times or all your life, we hope that you will continue to come home to the Missouri State Fair for many more years to come.

Exhibitors are truly the heart and soul of our Fair, and there's nothing I enjoy more than watching our 4-H and FFA youth in the show ring. Thank you to the parents, family members, friends, club leaders, volunteers and advisors who help mentor these young people. The lessons they are learning through showing and exhibiting at the State Fair will certainly help shape them into the future leaders of our great state.

The success of the State Fair, and especially its competitions and shows, is a collaborative effort of many individuals who work continuously to promote Missouri agriculture. The Fair continues to be ranked among the best in the industry, and the Commission, staff and I are proud of the Fair's 117 years of being the state's premier showcase for agriculture. Thank you for your support and for coming home to your State Fair.
